

enerG Focus Feature LAW FIRMS

As the alternative energy business has grown, so has the expertise required to manage energy businesses and develop new projects, and that includes legal expertise.

In this Special enerG Magazine Focus, we look at a selection of law firms that are involved in alternative energy.

ANDREWS KURTH LLP

600 Travis Street
Suite 4200
Houston, TX 77002
www.andrewskurth.com

Built on a foundation of knowledge and experience of helping energy businesses succeed for more than 100 years, Andrews Kurth is now a leading firm in renewable energy fuels, power, regulation, investment, and environmental trading. The firm's lawyers get deals done by helping clients navigate the complexities of renewable energy projects and maximizing available tax, financial, and environmental credits and incentives. They facilitate clean and renewable energy sales by working with the complex contracts that underlie the movement of BTUs and KWHs. The practice is involved daily in energy price, transportation, and transmission regulations. They also assist renewable energy companies with access to potential sources of energy industry capital and investment.
